Considering an Alternative Way to Sell Your House Certainly this is not for everybody. The question is only, is it right for you? Question 4 of 7

DO YOU FEEL LIKE YOU'RE JUMPING OFF A CLIFF?

Some home-sellers are not comfortable with the whole process. The legal implications are overwhelming. What if they say the wrong thing? They believe that if the faucet is leaking, call a plumber. Selling a house? Call a Realtor.

If you answered "YES", it might very well be preferable to designate a Realtor to handle advertising, showing appointments, open-house activities, showing feedback and all other activities related to the sale of property. We're excited that you've found the right path! And, if you need help with finding a great Realtor, we can help with that! Call or email for details. There is absolutely no cost to you.

If you answered "NO", we're here to help! Call or email at your convenience. The process is transparent and there is no pressure or commitment required to discuss this alternative to selling your home. Your "with a little help" approach to this project will save you money!
